Profile

I'm Banele Ndlovu, and I attend the University of Mpumalanga, Studying Bachelor of Information and Communication Technology (BICT). Having a solid background in coding and a keen interest in technology, my goal is to work in software development and Cybersecurity field. My interests include web development, artificial intelligence, data analytics and cybersecurity—all of which complement my ICT coursework. I can't wait to take on realworld problems, keep learning new things, and help develop cutting-edge, safe, and useful digital solutions.
